CAREER OBJECTIVE

While conducting undergraduate research on the Collatz Conjecture, I discovered that a career in academia was not the right fit for me. Instead, I turned my attention to the exciting field of web development. After completing the Full-Stack Web Development certificate program at Noble Desktop, I am now a skilled and enthusiastic web developer, eager to use my abilities to make a positive impact at your company. As a young immigrant, I am driven by a strong work ethic and a desire to succeed. I believe that I have the skills and determination to excel as a Web Developer at your company.
